MANOR of GROVES

Superb Golf in a Picturesque Parkland Setting

Manor of Groves is home to a stunning 18 hole championship course set in 150 acres of beautiful rolling Hertfordshire countryside less than 10 minutes away from Harlow and Bishops Stortford.

The par 71, 6,237 yard layout has been subject to a large investment of time and effort over the last couple of years to improve the already fine design. Divided into two differing nine hole loops, the front nine weaves in and around the old manor gardens whilst the back nine has wide sweeping fairways stretching out over magnificent parkland. US style sandbedded greens always mean excellent playing conditions even in the winter months.

The relaxing Members' area ~ The Viewing Gallery ~ features fabulous views of the 1st Tee and 18th Green. The generously proportioned space includes bar area, reception, lounge and a Pro Shop built to the highest specification.

Manor of Groves prides itself on high levels of service and outstanding facilities. This, coupled with monthly or annual payment options, makes it one of the finest clubs in the area. New for 2009 we are launching our Privilege Club to provide members with discounts throughout the Hotel, Leisure Centre and Golf Club.

Also ideal for Golf Societies, Manor of Groves really appreciate how demanding organising a Society Day can be so they aim to make the day as stress free as possible at all stages of the process. The team understand your needs and can tailor services and facilities to suit them.

POLICE FARCE!

A POLICE officer is to be investigated over allegations he abused his authority by sending THREE colleagues to a parking dispute involving his wife's car.

The off-duty constable will be hauled before top brass after he sent a rapid response unit to a private car park off Kitson Way, Harlow, when his wife complained stickers had been placed on her Mercedes 4x4 asking her not to park in a designated parking bay.

Two uniformed police officers, a PCSO and the constable arrived within minutes of the call being made.

But after quizzing advertising representative Michaela Robinson over allegations of criminal damage for more than 30 minutes, the matter was dropped. Officers then advised her to use stickers issued by car park owners the Harvey Centre warning people not to park in private bays instead.

"I just couldn't believe it," Miss Robinson told the Star. "For them to arrive so quickly for something which turned out to be nothing is ridiculous when you have people having to wait hours for a police officer to arrive after they have been burgled or had something stolen.

"It seems obvious to me this was fast tracked because the person whose car was involved has a policeman as a husband. I am making a formal complaint because I think it's disgusting."

Harlow's new district commander, Chief Inspector Nick Morris, told the Star he would investigate the incident to ascertain if the officer had overstepped the mark.

He also said the matter would not have constituted an offence of criminal damage because the stickers cleaned off with soapy water.

"I would like to thank the Star for bringing this to my attention," he said. "I have spoken to inspectors and we are waiting for a complaint form to be filled out."

"Once that is done a full investigation will be launched and the matter looked into. The investigation will see if the police officer abused his position to obtain a better service."

Two quizzed in murder probe

THE devastated family of a disabled woman stabbed to death outside her home have spoken of the kind and gentle person they have lost.

Their tribute came as police were given extra time to question two men in their investigation into the death of 62-year-old Jennifer Macaree, whose body was found in the driver's seat of her Vauxhall Corsa outside her flat in Hadley Grange, Church Langley, shortly after 3am on Saturday.

Ms Macaree, who also used the surname North, sustained multiple stab wounds during what police have described as a short but vicious attack.

She was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where she died a short while later. Police have been searching the area for evidence for almost a week and are yet to find the murder weapon which they believe to be a large, single bladed knife.

Shotgun raiders threaten guard

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoonl@hertssexnews.co.uk

ARMED robbers brandishing a sawn-off shotgun held up a security guard at a Harlow supermarket and fled with thousands of pounds.

The guard was unhurt but shaken by the robbery. Now the company for which he works is now considering offering a reward for the arrest of the culprits.

The two raiders pounced on the guard at about 1.30pm on Thursday at Sainsbury's, in Fifth Avenue, and demanded he hand over the cash box he was carrying.

They made off on foot and then fled in a white van – believed to have been a Vauxhall – which had been parked in nearby Bramble Rise.

Armed officers, dogs and a police helicopter were deployed to search the area and make door-to-door inquiries.

Loomis spokesman Carl Courtney said: "Loomis deplores any gun-related crime and a substantial reward might well be put in place for information which leads to the successful conviction of those involved."

"The guard involved is understandably shaken – he had a gun shoved in his face – but other than that he did not require treatment for any injuries."

Police want to speak with witnesses who saw the raid or any activity around the van in Bramble Rise, earlier in the day or after the incident.

The robber wielding the gun is described as being in his 50s, wearing a black jacket and a black woolly hat. His accomplice was said to be younger and wearing a dark jacket.

A Sainsbury's spokesman said the company is liaising with police but refused to confirm whether the raid occurred inside or outside the store.

Anyone with information should call Detective Sergeant Gilling on 0300 333 4444.

Traffic survey to examine village rat-run protests

HIGHWAYS chiefs are to carry out a traffic survey in a village plagued by speeding vehicles.

Essex County Council will assess speeds in Hastingwood after residents complained the area is being used as a rat-run by drivers trying to avoid tailbacks approaching the M11.

If the survey reveals there is a significant danger, the authority will look at reducing the speed limit or introducing traffic calming measures.

Conservative prospective Parliamentary candidate Rob Halfon has been lobbying the county council to resolve the situation and said: "This is marvellous news for people living in Hastingwood who have put up with the roads outside their homes being used as rat-runs by cars and lorries for years."

"Action is long-awaited and it is great that the county council has put in writing that it intends to do something about the problem."

"I have been fighting for something to be done, as have the residents and local action group, for some time now and it is great to see that all the campaigning has finally paid off."

Surveys are due to go out to residents in the next few weeks with a view to resolving the issue by late this year.

Tesco given green light to harness wind power

THE green credentials of super-market giant Tesco have been called into question after it won a battle to install wind turbines in the car park at one of its stores in Harlow.

The two energy-generating structures will be erected at the Church Langley store after council planning chiefs gave the go-ahead Tuesday night.

The 10-metre high turbines will be placed at different locations in the car park but close to a community centre, a school and health centre.

The decision has angered the Church Langley Residents' Association which opposed the turbines on the grounds of noise disturbance.

Speaking at Tuesday's planning committee meeting, Mike Scott said: "My main concern is noise. What is not mentioned is the community centre is also a place of worship and quiet meditation and is, therefore, very noise sensitive."

He also argued that the noise would be above planners' recommendations of 35 decibels in most of the buildings because of the turbines' close proximity of under 50 metres.

While some members of the committee sympathised with Mr Scott, the plan was passed after the meeting was told six out of 19 local authorities approached by the council because they had the turbines said they had not received any noise complaints.

Speaking after the meeting Mr Scott claimed the energy used to install and maintain the turbines would see Tesco "just about break even" on the amount of energy and money it saves.

"At best it's very marginal," he added. "The only thing it can be is a publicity stunt."

But a Tesco spokesman said the turbines would be beneficial to reducing the store's carbon footprint while the payback in terms of energy and cost would take a little while.

Dad's climb in memory of son

By LOUISE SASSOON

News Editor

sassoon@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A BEREAVED father is taking on the challenge of climbing Britain's highest peak in memory of his son.

David Bunyan (30), of Ash Tree Field, Harlow, will climb Ben Nevis with his brother Paul and friends Matt Hilton, Nigel Hammond, Craig Howard, Dave Rawlings and Dominic Moule to raise funds for Meningitis UK.

The charity is dedicated to finding a vaccine for the disease which last year claimed the life of David's 15-month-old son George.

Speaking about next month's challenge, he said: "It has been a difficult time but I have been touched by the support from people. I only put up the website page yesterday and I have already got £500."

The gruelling hike to the summit of the 4,409ft Scottish landmark and back should take up to nine hours and requires walkers to be fit.

However, they have not really trained as a group because Paul, Nigel, Craig, Dave and Dominic live in Potters Bar and Matt lives in Leaden Roding.

"I have been going to the gym – this has motivated me to get back after Christmas – but I'm not sure how long it will take," said David.

"I am an outdoors person and enjoy fishing but I have not climbed a mountain before."

He said his wife Mandy has been very supportive and would have gone to Scotland with them but is pregnant and due to give birth in May.

He added: "If anyone wants to help out in any way possible or donate then it would be most appreciated."

Steve Dayman, who founded Meningitis UK after his son Spencer died from the disease, said: "Dave and his friends' efforts in memory of George are really remarkable and we wish them the best of luck."

"Meningitis UK has a single focus – to find a vaccine to eradicate meningitis. Every bit of help is so important in enabling us to continue our vital work."

"Our ultimate goal is to spare families the heartache Dave's family have suffered by losing a loved one to meningitis."

The climb will take place on April 25. To sponsor the group visit the website www.justgiving.com/bennevismarkformentingitis.

Shop staff's silver service

STAFF raked in the silver for charity by wearing the colour as part of a fundraising week.

The event at the Age Concern shop, in West Gate, Harlow, was part of the national Silver Star week to help elderly people living in poverty.

As well as dressing up, staff decorated the shop, sold silver star badges, hosted a 'name the bear' competition and lucky dip and even sang karaoke-style.

The club has also decided to donate half of future 10-mile race profits to local charities, with St Clare Hospice the designated charity for this year's event on July 26.

Remove hood, Asda tells late night shopper

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoona@hertsexnews.co.uk

A SUPERMARKET customer has made a formal complaint after he was refused entry to a town centre store for wearing a hooded top.

Jason Flavell (32), of Wedhey, Harlow, popped in to Asda in the Water Gardens in the early hours of Friday morning to buy a pint of milk but was told he would not be allowed in unless he removed the hood of his grey top from his head.

Mr Flavell explained to staff on the door that he was only wearing the hood up to cover his messy hair and pleaded with them to change their mind.

But they refused to back down and Mr Flavell was left with no option but to obey. He has now complained about the treatment he received which he claimed was tantamount to discrimination.

"I just couldn't believe it," he told the Star. "For them to say that to a 32-year-old fella who hasn't had any convictions or anything like that and to treat him in that way is just not good enough."

"I hadn't been drinking or been out. I just wanted some milk to make a cup of tea."

"I told them they wouldn't say it if

HOOD YOU BELIEVE IT: Jason Flavell was told he would have to remove his hood before being allowed into Asda (photo: WC32X7LK/01)

I was wearing a turban or head scarf but they said it was company policy which I have since found out isn't true."

When the Star contacted Asda for its response this week, a spokeswoman apologised for the incident.

"There might have been problems in the store after a certain time of night in the past where kids have been coming in with hoodies on and the store has put in place its own rules and regulations, but it is not a company-wide policy," she said.

"If the customer is upset and would like to speak to the store manager, he would be more than happy to do that."

Family homeless after house blaze

AN elderly woman was taken to hospital and six people were made homeless after fire ripped through their terraced home in the early hours of Sunday.

Firefighters were sent to the property in Gledelands, Harlow, shortly after midnight following reports of the blaze which had engulfed the ground floor of the building.

When crews arrived on the scene they found the 79-year-old woman had managed to get out of the burning property. She was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital as a precautionary measure.

However, paramedics were also called to treat other occupants of the house who were suffering from smoke inhalation.

Initially two fire engines were sent to tackle the blaze but the officer in charge of the incident requested additional back-up. The fire was out by about 1am.

A joint police and fire investigation is currently under way to establish the cause of the incident.

Council publishes officers' salaries

THE salaries of Harlow Council's top officers have been published by the authority on its own website.

The decision to make public how much senior managers are paid follows an outcry after the Star revealed they were in line for large pay hikes at a time when the council was facing a cash crisis which has resulted in it having to make cuts to several services it provides.

According to the figures, chief executive Malcolm Morley's current salary of £113,187 will increase to £122,856 from April 1. The pay bands for strategic directors will rise to £92,205 to £102,450, while heads of service will earn between £66,593 and £76,838.

Council leader Andrew Johnson said: "When we looked at the pay of chief executives for 14 neighbouring district councils, Harlow's was second from the bottom of the list of salaries which ranged from £92k to £162k.

"The new salary still only puts it into the average salary bracket for this type of job."

"There is a huge difference between the pay of senior public and private sector employees managing similar budgets and responsibilities; this difference is sometimes hundreds of thousands of pounds as there is significant use of bonuses in the private sector."

"Council chief executives are capable of earning far more in other sectors; indeed, many have come from successful private sector careers previously but they choose to work with the community because of the interest and challenge it presents."

A sharp U-turn in council priorities

WE are all familiar with political U-turns and Harlow Council has been guilty of a few in its time. While the beleaguered Advice Centre, in East Walk, is licking its wounds after having its council funding dramatically slashed, just 30 years ago the authority was busy pontificating as to the best way to set up such a service in a single location.

A report written by a working party – which was created especially to look into setting up an information/advice centre in February 1973 – set out a framework for introducing the service into the town after councillors agreed to the idea in late 1972.

The working party comprised representatives of the voluntary and statutory social services, Harlow Development Corporation and members of the council.

It was asked to advise councillors on three matters – how the bureau would operate, where it would be sited and what the building would look like.

The document stated the general concept was to establish a centre for information and advice, centrally situated and offering a high standard of information for residents and visitors to the town, including Legal Aid, housing advice and guidance in a number of areas.

It also said it should be open by 1974 and operate six days a week in order to meet demand.

Now it looks as though the service could struggle to stay afloat after the council pulled the plug on a majority of its funding.

How times, and priorities, have changed!

Rocking good times in park

By LOUISE SASSOON

HARLOW is known for its rich musical heritage, spawning homegrown talents and visited by the likes of Iron Maiden, Oasis and Coldplay on their rise to fame.

But when the Fourth Avenue music Mecca of The Square was just beginning, the town was treated to free open air concerts in the rather more subdued setting of the Town Park.

After Harlow Urban District Council's entertainments committee introduced pop concerts for teens in 1973, a succession of top names and up-and-coming groups graced the Spurriers bandstand until the gigs stopped in 1980.

These included Atomic Rooster, Mungo Jerry, 10cc, The Rubettes, Eddie & The Hot Rods and even the Bay City Rollers.

Hev Wright wrote to Nostalgia to share his memories: "I was only just teenager when those concerts happened, but I remember thinking all my Christmases had come at once."

"Concerts by some of the biggest bands of the time in my home town and I could go and see them without my mum – it was amazing!

"One of the things I remember was how badly The Rubettes were treated; they had bottles and all sorts thrown at them and, funnily enough, a few years ago I went to see The Rubettes at Cambridge, as they still do the circuit as so many others do ... while I was waiting to purchase something the guy in front of me told them he remembered seeing them in Harlow in the '70s and Alan, the lead singer, said 'God, I remember that – we had things thrown at us'.

"They were fantastic gigs and it felt like the whole town had turned out for each and every gig, and a lot of kids would never have been lucky enough to see those bands if they hadn't come to Harlow."

"Harlow should be very proud that all those years ago they gave kids the chance to see their idols."

Tory donation 'above board'

CONSERVATIVE Parliamentary hopeful Robert Halfon has insisted a campaign fund donation from scandal-hit Tory peer Lord Ashcroft was "completely legal and above board".

Mr Halfon accepted the gift of £5,000 from Lord Ashcroft's international company, Bearwood Corporate Services, on behalf of Harlow Conservative Association back in 2005.

The donation towards his General Election campaign is one of a number of financial gifts currently under investigation by the Electoral Commission.

The law specifically forbids donations made to political parties by overseas businesses and individuals.

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

Labour politicians claim Lord Ashcroft's business interests abroad and his refusal to confirm his UK citizenship raise question marks over the legality of the funding arrangement.

But Mr Halfon dismissed Labour claims of dodgy dealing as a "red herring" to deflect attention from the crippling effects of the recession.

"I was absolutely delighted to accept the money from Bearwood, which was 100 per cent cleared legally by the Conservative Party," he told the Star.

"This is clearly a red herring dreamt up by Labour in a desperate bid to make people forget the real issues facing the country today like the crippling recession and rising unemployment.

"Although I have not been given anything else by Lord Ashcroft since 2005, I would be more than happy to accept any further donations he offered."

However, Harlow MP Bill Rammell felt the financier's extravagant funding of the Conservatives created an "uneven playing field".

"While I obviously await the outcome of the Electoral Commission's investigations, I am pleased that this organisation is taking action to investigate impermissible donations made by Mr Ashcroft's company," he added.

"It is stipulated very clearly in the rules that any company donating money to a UK political party needs to be carrying out business in the UK, something the Electoral Commission has concerns about."

Cabbies' drive for customer care

CABBIES are all smiles about their latest pick up –certificates to show they are fare in the field of customer care.

All drivers for cab firm ABC undertook an 11-week B-Tec and NVQ course in dealing with the public and drove away with a 100 per cent pass rate.

The firm is the only private hire firm in Harlow to have completed the course, in which drivers sat a number of examinations based on dealing with the everyday issues of social awareness, disability needs and dealing with problematic situations.

A spokesman said: "As we are the biggest private hire company in Harlow, we felt that this was an extremely important course for customer safety."

Police quiz two in murder probe as family pay tribute to victim

Bloodied footprints are still visible at the scene which was being guarded by officers yesterday (Wednesday). This week police produced posters in a bid to jog people's memories.

Detectives were also given more time by a court to question two Harlow men – one aged 68 and the other 22 – who were arrested in connection with the murder. [The 68-year-old was released on police bail until May 6 as the Star went to press last night.

Ms Macaree's family said in a statement: "Our mum, nan and great nan was kind, gentle and full of life."

"We are devastated and lost without her. We would like to thank everyone for their kind thoughts and condolences at this very sad time."

Ms Macaree's death has shocked local residents. Mark Bownes, who used to help Ms Macaree by putting her rubbish in dustbins for collection, said: "She was a nice, friendly, bubbly person. I really can't understand why that would happen to a defenceless woman like that."

One couple, who wished to remain nameless, said: "There's been problems around here for a long time. There have been cars broken into and things like that; it's nothing like people think it is."

"We had bikes nicked from the landing of the flats we live in. The door lock was broken so any old Tom, Dick or Harry could walk in."

"Cars have been broken into as well. [Ms Macaree's] car was broken into before she died. We feel unsafe now."

Another resident said she no longer feels safe at night. "When we first moved in it was really nice but all this had happened now," she said.

Touching floral tributes have been laid at the entrance to Ms Macaree's block of flats throughout the week.

A card on one bunch read: "Remembering a lovely, kind neighbour. Steve, Elaine, Lake, Liam." Another simply said: "Our thoughts are with you. Ellen and Tony."

Detective Superintendent Tracy Hawkings, who is leading the police investigation, said: "This was a violent attack on a disabled woman as she sat in her car near her home."

"I appeal to anyone who was in the area in the early hours of Saturday morning to contact us. Any piece of information may be the vital clue that helps us solve her murder."

Ministry of JUSTICE

I'm disgusted by personal attacks

SIR, I attended the council meeting on February 19 and have never felt so disgusted in my life, at the antics of the Conservative members and their insidious personal attacks on members of the opposition.

I managed to understand that they are claiming there was a very large black hole in the council's finances, due to the previous administration.

My understanding of council procedure is that the chief executive and senior managers are employed to make sure that councillors are given the correct information and advice on all matters, so if there is a black hole, surely the people giving that advice are incompetent? So why is the Conservative administration giving these people large increases in their salaries for incompetence?

At the same time, a body of highly trained and very competent people who work for the Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service, who over the years have helped thousands of vulnerable people, are being thrown out into the gutter.

Of course, there are also the elderly people who attend the Leah Manning Centre who are also being thrown out, either to become housebound or just to curl up and die!

This administration doesn't care, as long as it is saving money and the councillors can continue to enjoy the large amount of expenses they receive.

And, of course, we mustn't forget the vulnerable elderly people living in sheltered housing, which will now be turned into ordinary housing stock – they will lose their wardens and eventually we may lose houses from council stock because of the Right To Buy.

Parking charges sound death knell for shops

SIR, The Conservatives' cuts to funding for the Advice Centre and local charities show they don't care about the needs of local people, but the proposal to charge for car parking in the local shopping centres shows they do not have any business sense either.

The introduction of charges in Hoddesdon and Sawbridgeworth was followed by a large reduction in customer numbers in their shops and there is every reason to expect the same to happen in Old Harlow, The Stow and Bush Fair.

Coming during the recession, this will be a death blow to many local businesses and, indeed, to local voluntary bodies which meet in Moot House, Bush Fair and Old Harlow. Those employees who don't lose their jobs will have to pay up to £36 a week extra to get to work; many will not be able to afford it.

This will affect nurses and visitors at the health centres as well shop and restaurant workers. And cars pushed out into the nearby residential streets will be met with yet more local parking schemes, with residents having to pay to park outside their own homes.

The council plans to spend much of the money raised in parking charges on extra traffic wardens to enforce the scheme. With businesses forced to close, Harlow Council will lose their rents – making a net loss to the council.

The council intends to force through plans which will have an entirely negative effect on the town on the grounds that it must have extra income. But that income will not be achieved, thus causing all that harm for no benefit whatsoever.

Is the council really that stupid, or will it respond to the wishes of local residents and drop this scheme?

David Wright, chairman
Harlow Liberal Democrats
Old Road, Harlow

SIR, I read your report concerning Harlow Council's proposal to scrap free parking in council-owned car parks with interest.

Deputy council leader Simon Carter was quoted as saying that the "aggressive changes" were a vital way of increasing council income.

Although the local authority can decide whether to charge for off-street and on-street parking under the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, the Department for Transport's Operational Guidance says that authorities should not use parking charges simply to raise revenue or as a local tax. This was established by the judgement in Regina v LB Camden and, put simply, means parking charges cannot be used to bail out other mismanaged council budgets.

Although there is nothing to stop the council introducing or raising its parking charges, the revenue gained must be used to meet its transport objectives. This could be investing in new bus services or walking and cycling facilities, for example, to encourage local people not to use their cars for local journeys.

Your readers might like to know that, should parking charges be introduced, the council's District Auditor can be approached by any council tax payer to examine whether the council has exceeded its authority because the revenue raised has not been used correctly.

Trevor Pyle
Spinning Wheel Mead, Harlow

All I can say now is roll on May 2010 and we can throw these councillors out into the gutter.

Les Coben, chairman, Harlow & District Pensioners Action Association
The Rows, Market Square, Harlow

Hitting poorest

SIR, At a time when the majority of people are facing difficulties, how does the council react? They increase the council tax, increase rents and cut services including the advice centre – all items which will most affect the poorest in our society.

Not satisfied with this, they propose, from appropriately April Fool's Day this year, to increase the salary of chief officers.

I suspect most of your readers don't know what this entails and so I have obtained from the council under the Freedom of Information Act the figure: chief executive, salary increase from £113,187 to £122,856; assistant chief executive, a new post between £77,862 to £88,107; strategic directors, at present between £83,467 and £89,181, to be increased to between £92,205 and £102,450; heads of service, at present £63,455 and £69,178, to be increased to £66,593 to £76,838.

I wonder how many council tax payers have such incomes? Certainly, many pensioners and low-paid workers would be pleased to get the chief executive's increase, let alone his salary.

As usual, the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. Those who have benefited least in the good times, suffer most in the bad times. Why, oh why, do we put up with it?

Rev Dennis Nadin
Willowfield, Harlow

Tories offside

SIR, After attending the full council meeting on February 19, we are questioning the role of Harlow's Conservative council. Just who do they represent? Whose side are they on?

It's certainly not the 400 people waiting for advice or support from Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service, or the 7,000 people who signed the petition against the closure of the Advice Centre.

It's certainly not on the side of the elderly day care attenders at Leah Manning or the small businesses in areas like The Stow and Old Harlow who will lose out through new car park charges. Neither are they on the side of charities and volunteers and those in the community who benefit from their work – grants to charities have been slashed!

The Conservative council are not on the side of those in sheltered housing who will lose wardens, pay more for heating laundry and face an uncertain future with sheltered housing being made available for general letting and eventually being sold off under the Right To Buy.

Users and staff at the museum must be wondering too if the council is on their side, with a loss of £40,000 a year from their budget.

It appears the Conservative council are on the side of the high earners in the council by awarding them a £10,000 a year increase.

Perhaps, finally, they are on the side of the wheelie bin manufacturers, with their purchase of more than £½m worth of wheelie bins which nobody seems to want.

Doug & Sheila Marchant
Ladyshot, Harlow

Political cuts

SIR, If Andrew Johnson had any guts as his letter suggests (Letters, February 19), he would admit that the budget he and his Conservative colleagues have inflicted upon the town is driven wholly by their party political agenda that prioritises the needs of the haves over the have-nots.

If councillor Johnson and his colleagues had the courage of their convictions, they would have been upfront about their devastating plans whilst campaigning during the last local elections. If councillor Johnson and his colleagues spent less time on party tricks, smoke and mirrors and attempts to rewrite history, and more time thinking about giving the people of Harlow a choice, then the town would not be in the sorry state his party's budget decisions now threaten to plunge us into.

And there was choice. Unlike the Liberal Democrats, Harlow's Labour group submitted a balanced alternative budget, validated by the council's legal officer, that would not have cut Welfare Rights and Advice, the museum and grant aid, that would not have enforced the wasteful and almost universally unpopular wheelie bin proposals, that would not reward the council's senior managers at the cost of jobs and services elsewhere and that would not increase council tax by a single penny more than the Tory budget.

The only thing missing from the Tory budget was the hiring of the wrecking balls, for that will be the consequent impact of their decisions. Valued and vital services that Harlow residents have depended upon will be devastated or disappear and it will take years, if ever, to restore them.

The £1.1m that the Conservatives have committed to their "rubbish" plans could have been allocated to frontline services that people of Harlow want and need but that would have required the Tories to have listened and responded, and that would have been a first.

Take heed – what they do to Harlow today they will do in the same dispassionate way to the country if given a chance. They don't deserve that chance.

Ian Beckett, chairman
Harlow Labour Party
The High, Harlow

Support valued

SIR, We are addressing the 7,051 people who signed the petition and the 300 who signed on a Facebook page expressing their deep concern at the cutback in funding to the budget of Harlow's advice services.

At the full council meeting on February 19, the Conservative administration voted to approve their budget. Unless a legal challenge to the council's decision is successful, this will inevitably mean the closure of Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service and the redundancy of the highly expert and deeply respected staff.

As you were not mentioned and your questions in the paper that was presented on your behalf were not answered, we thought it only courteous to make you aware of this disastrous outcome for the people of Harlow.

Even though your petition was ignored, we shall not go away. You do have the power to change and influence things by voting, attending council committee meetings, reading council agendas and keeping informed about what our council is doing.

In its present mood, the priority seems to be to dismantle what has made Harlow a good town. We shall be watching you and your council colleagues, Andrew Johnson.

Four-year high in number seeking apprenticeships

APPRENTICESHIPS are proving more popular in Harlow than ever with figures revealing a massive increase in the amount of people taking up the training schemes. During the past four years the number of apprenticeships completed in the town has risen by 133 per cent, from 60 in 2004 to 140 in 2008.

The figures were released to coincide with the national Apprenticeship Week.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell, a former minister for lifelong skills, said: "I'm really pleased that the number of people starting an apprenticeship has increased so fast and I congratulate everyone in Harlow who has completed an apprenticeship in the past four years."

"This Government is expanding apprenticeships even further in the coming years which is great news for Harlow. And we will soon be introducing a right to an apprenticeship place for every suitably qualified young person who wants one."

Deal paves way for £23m school move

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassooni@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE relocation of Passmores School and Technology College to new state-of-the-art premises has moved a step closer with the appointment of a project contractor.

Willmott Dixon won the contract to deliver the £23m scheme within a two-year timeframe.

Passmores will be relocated to the site of the former Brays Grove School, which closed in the summer of 2008, with the new buildings ready for students from September 2011.

Essex County Council leader Lord Hanningfield, said: "This is a project which will deliver state-of-the-art buildings and create an inspirational environment in which to learn."

"Willmott Dixon submitted an exceptional bid and the company's experience on similar projects was also a key factor."

Detailed discussions with all those involved, including staff, governors and the local community, will start at once. The county council has also commissioned the Sorrell Foundation to undertake consultations with pupils about their vision for the new school buildings and their feedback will be incorporated into the design.

A planning application is expected to be submitted by the summer of this year.

Rob Lambe, managing director for Willmott Dixon in the Eastern Home

Counties, said: "We'll be placing great emphasis on maximizing the local pound by ensuring we give as much work as possible to companies in the region as its important that this school project benefits the local economy."

"We want it to be a win-win in terms of creating employment opportunities during construction followed by providing a fantastic new school for pupils."

Passmores headteacher Vic Goddard said he hoped the building would reflect Harlow as a town as well as being a top-class learning facility.

"It's fantastic," he added. "It has been three years, almost four, since it was first spoken about so to see things moving along and drawings taking shape is really exciting."

Tenants given help to make homes swaps

COUNCIL tenants in Harlow are being given a helping hand to move to pastures new under a national initiative which allows them to swap homes with people in other areas.

Harlow Council has signed up to a scheme which allows tenants interested in a mutual exchange to register for housing swaps. They can advertise their property online with a brief description and a picture. Once registered, they will receive emails or text messages when potential matches have been found.

Joshua Jolles, chairman of Harlow Council's housing committee, said: "Tenants have the right to mutual exchange if they wish to either move to a different area or just to a different size home."

"As the council has signed up to the scheme, it is completely free for tenants to take part in."

Tenants who are interested in Homeswapper can register their details at www.homeswapper.co.uk. Those without internet access can visit Contact Harlow at the Civic Centre for help or use one of the libraries in the town.

● For more information on the Homeswapper scheme, contact the council on (01279) 446655.

Runway inquiry grounded until after sale ruling

THE inquiry into the construction of a second runway at Stansted Airport, which was scheduled to start on April 15, has been postponed.

Despite a recommendation from inspector Andrew Phillipson that the hearing into BAA's plans to increase passenger numbers to 68m by 2030 should proceed as planned, Secretary of State for Communities and Government Hazel Blears announced on Monday she had decided to delay the inquiry until after the Competition Commission makes its final ruling on the sale of airport.

The commission, which investigates monopolies, has so far been adamant that BAA must sell both Gatwick and its Essex hub, despite the operator's protestations that such a move would delay delivery of more aviation capacity for the south-east.

Mrs Blears has now said she will announce a new inquiry start date within four weeks of the commission's ruling, which must be delivered by March 28. There will then be a minimum of eight weeks between the announcement of a new hearing date and commencement of the inquiry, meaning a start before June is unlikely.

The decision to delay has been welcomed by protest group Stop Stansted Expansion. A BAA spokesman said: "We note the decision by Government to temporarily defer the start of the Stansted G2 public inquiry.

"The Competition Commission market investigation concludes in March and we recognise that the Secretary of State has decided deferring the inquiry may be the best way of preventing long-term damage to the process of delivering this important infrastructure development project."

Smuggler hid stash of drugs in suitcase

A FATHER-of-three who tried to solve his debt problems by acting as a drugs courier has been jailed for four years.

Benjamin Pidgeon (29) was stopped when he arrived at Heathrow Airport by customs officers who found a large quantity of 100 per cent pure cocaine hidden in the false bottom of his suitcase.

Pidgeon, of Broadfields, Harlow, pleaded guilty at Isleworth Crown Court to a charge of smuggling 780 grams of the drug on October 31 last year.

The court heard officers stopped him as he left a flight from Dar Es Salaam where he had been for a week's holiday.

Prosecutor Jonathan Ramsay said officers searched his trolley bag and found the cocaine concealed in a hidden compartment.

Pidgeon was then questioned and said he was in fear for his life and for the safety of his family.

Ian Boyes, representing Pidgeon, said in mitigation the defendant was a drug user who got into financial difficulties and "rather foolishly" took the opportunity offered to him to make some money.

"By his own stupidity he has landed his children in a very precarious position," said Mr Boyes.

Jailing Pidgeon for four years on Thursday, Judge Stephen Powles told him: "You must be well aware that drugs destroy lives and for a short while they are going to destroy your life too."

"Hopefully, in prison, you will continue to try to get yourself off them because of the harm they do."

"People who come before this court are generally vulnerable people who have been picked upon by unscrupulous dealers. Some of their stories are far worse than yours and they get substantial prison sentences."

Opening up on Gateway benefits

SHOPPERS were brought up to date on the progress of Harlow's £50m regeneration project when members of the Gateway Partnership Board set up stall in the Harvey Centre.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell joined councillors Andrew Johnson, Eddie Johnson and Emmanuel Doku to talk about the Gateway Project which includes a new sports and leisure complex currently under construction and the housing development off Fifth Avenue.

A board spokesperson said: "The exhibition was about helping to explain the ongoing progress of the project and what it has to offer local people. The Gateway Project represents serious investment and regeneration for Harlow and we want everyone to experience the benefits it brings."

So far the project has delivered a new football stadium at Barrows Farm and athletics track and improved facilities at Mark Hall School as well as investment into pitch regeneration across the town.

Credit crunch on agenda for Tory Treasury visitor

SMALL firms were given the once-over when Shadow Treasury Minister David Gauke visited Harlow to see how businesses were coping in the recession.

The Conservative MP for South West Hertfordshire visited the town at the invitation of prospective MP Robert Halfon.

He learned how one store, Top Form Clothing in The Stow, was bucking the trend and thriving during the economic downturn.

He then attended a dinner at the Park Inn Hotel in Southern Way which was hosted by the Harlow Conservative Women's Committee.

Speaking of his visit, Mr Gauke said: "This is a difficult time even for successful businesses and politicians need to listen to see what practical help can be provided."

Bail bid rejected

A MOTOR exporter accused of possessing a pistol with intent to cause fear of violence against a former business associate has again been refused bail.

Francis Monk (56), of Malkin Drive, Harlow, failed to persuade Judge David Turner to grant him bail at Chelmsford Crown Court on Thursday.

Monk is due to stand trial on May 11.

Homeowner's battle over loss of privacy

DEVASTATED: Joanne Bale in the garden of her home

A DESPERATE homeowner is taking legal action against a developer which she claims has wrecked her life by building properties too close to her house.

Mum-of-two Joanne Bale said she had been "boxed in" by homes overlooking her five-bedroom house on the Newhall estate in Harlow and she has been left with no other option in her attempts to settle the dispute.

The 38-year-old hairdresser has instructed solicitors to investigate the possibility of taking the matter further and said she had been told she has good grounds for complaint.

"I'm losing privacy and losing natural sunlight," she said. "The solicitor said the list is endless."

"I was devastated when the workmen took down the tarpaulin which covered the front of the properties because the windows all overlook my garden. It is so bad it looks as though they should be my windows."

"The garden never gets sunlight and my son can't get changed in his bedroom because two windows look straight in. I'm really tearful all the time; it's

sassooni@hertsessexnews.co.uk

wrecked my house and my life."

When Mrs Bale's complaints were first reported in the Star back in October, a spokeswoman for developer Linden Homes said changes to the properties in Maypole Street would be made to reduce the impact, including frosting some of the windows.

However, Mrs Bale said all the windows were still clear glass, allowing neighbours to look directly into her home.

"I just don't know how Harlow Council passed this," she added. "I rung the planning department and told them I was disgusted."

This week the Linden Homes spokeswoman told the Star: "We have an exemplary record of safety and consideration for residents while a development is under construction and we addressed the concerns of the Bale family immediately they were brought to our attention."

"Where scaffolding has been removed from the properties under construction the windows have been temporarily covered and will be fitted with frosted glass, as agreed, prior to occupation."

Driver banned for leaning out of car window

A MAN who drove a car at 40mph while leaning out of the window and looking backwards has been fined £100 for careless driving.

Jason Cranch (21), of Occasio House in Playhouse Square, Harlow, had driven a Vauxhall Cavalier at speeds between 80-90mph before slowing down, Chelmsford Crown Court was told on Thursday.

A police officer who was following then saw him lean half way out of a window and look behind him.

Carolyn Gardiner, prosecuting, said the offence occurred on May 4 last year after police saw the car parked on an industrial estate at Flex Meadow, Harlow. A check revealed the vehicle was not covered by insurance.

Soon afterwards it was driven off into Elizabeth Way, initially at 40mph but increasing to 80-90mph, said Ms Gardiner. The car then negotiated a roundabout in a manner which made the officer think the driver had lost control.

After slowing down, Cranch was then seen to lean out of the window before stopping.

Ian Boyes, representing Cranch, said in mitigation he had acted foolishly while taking friends home.

He was unemployed and receiving £45 a week benefit. At the time of the offence he had just been released from prison and had remained out of trouble since.

He said he had put his head out of the window because of a sunblind on the back window and had then spotted the police and stopped.

Cranch, who admitted charges of careless driving, driving with no insurance and without a licence, was disqualified for 12 months.

Anne calls time on her 35 years as school governor

RETIRING school governor Anne Adnitt got a send-off to remember when she left her role after 35 years of loyal service.

Staff at The Downs Primary School, in The Hides, Harlow, held a farewell party to mark the occasion and invited parents and students to say their goodbyes as well.

For many years she chaired the governing body and for the past eight years she chaired the curriculum committee. Link governor Chris Stammers said: "Anne has been a valuable member of

The Downs governing body and she will be sorely missed. "Her four-year term of office as a community governor came to an end and, sadly for us, she decided that the time had come for her not to re-stand."

Google maps raise spectre of fabled city

A NATIONAL newspaper last week claimed it may have discovered the location of the legendary city of Atlantis using the online mapping tool Google Earth.

Although the claims were quickly denied by many experts who said the strange outlines on the seabed near the Canary Islands had been made by boats using sonar equipment to measure the depth of the ocean, the story has reignited public interest in the fabled lost city.

The rumours of its existence originate from a written account of its disappearance by the Greek philosopher Plato, who described Atlantis as an immense island with a formidable navy.

It is said its fearsome inhabitants conquered many parts of Africa and Western Europe some 9,600 years before the time of Christ, but according to Plato the entire island disappeared under water in "a single day and night of misfortune" after a failed attempt to invade the ancient Greek city of Athens. But even though thousands of years have passed since its supposed disappearance, no-one has ever been able to find any remains of the forgotten civilisation on the ocean floor, leading most to conclude Atlantis never existed in the first place.

Children get vibrant for Mardi Gras

Children were treated to a carnival atmosphere when they took part in Mardi Gras celebrations to mark Shrove Tuesday last week.

As well as dressing up in vibrant colours, they also made Mardi Gras masks and danced.

Nursery manager Kelly Walker-Reid said: "It was a really good day which was really enjoyed by the children."

School gives thousands to charity

ST NICHOLAS: The infant department at the Old Harlow school has received special recognition from the NSPCC for raising more than £11,000 for the children's charity in recent years.

The children raised the massive amount by donating 10p every week for several years.

As a reward for their generosity, they have been presented a certificate from the charity.

Infants department head Maggie Jones said: "We will continue to support this worthwhile charity as the funds are used to help many children in the local area."

"I would like to thank our children and their parents for their support. We are very proud of the amount raised."

Airport's tour of high-flying careers

PUPILS from three Harlow schools had an insight into the workings of the UK's third busiest airport this week as part of a £50,000 work experience scheme.

Nine students from ST MARK'S, STEWARDS and BURNT MILL got a behind-the-scenes look at some of the careers on offer at the airport as part of the Stansted Insight Programme, sponsored by BAA and the Harlow Education And Employer Partnership.

BAA community relations manager Valda Edmunds said: "Stansted Airport is the biggest single-site employer in the East of England and a wonderful place to work. We recognise that young people are the workforce of the future and this programme gives them real work experience and a great insight into the world of aviation."

The students' first day of the week-long initiative included completing an airport safety course. They spent the rest of their time understanding the various roles across the airport including airfield operations, engineering, passenger services and retail.

St Mark's student Ashleigh Lewis said: "I would never have looked at the airport for a job as I had no idea how many different roles exist here. You just don't look at it when you're passing through as a passenger."

Play and Learn

PLAY and Learn Childcare has opened a new nursery and after school club in Newhall, Old Harlow.

The premises provide a spacious, bright, secure environment, both indoors and out, ideal in which to play and learn.

All equipment and materials are brand new, however the owners and manager Emma have run a 131-place nursery in London for more than 13 years.

Emma says: "The programme is stimulating while always fun, and tailored to each child's individual needs, ensuring they develop at their own pace, thus maximising their personal potential."

Flexibility is the byword here. Opening times are 7am - 7pm and full, half, or even short days are available.

Principal Jan, insists: "We will always lean over backwards to assist with any specific requirement. We know who pays the wages and we aim to be here when needed and only close Bank Holidays. We also offer kids club and holiday schemes throughout the year." Free Nursery Education Grants are available and all vouchers are accepted. Slimming World campaign

SLIMMING World consultants, members and families in Harlow visited their local ASDA store on March 1 to launch Slimming World's new Let's Beat It Together campaign which aims to prevent the obesity crisis in our youngsters from spiralling out of control in the area.

Families are being urged to change their lifestyle for the sake of their children!

Lesley, who runs the Tye Green Community Centre Slimming World group – where children aged 11-15 can attend free of charge with a paying parent or guardian – is leading Harlow's Let's Beat It Together campaign and says a whole family approach is vital for the healthy future of children in the area.

In West Essex, 14.6 per cent of children are overweight and 17.6 per cent are obese by the time they leave primary school!

The Lancaster Clinic of Osteopathy

WHY should you visit John Lancaster from The Lancaster Clinic of Osteopathy?

■ His success rate is excellent because of his correct evaluation and diagnosis. Ninety per cent of his patients will recover fully with five per cent being referred for an MRI scan and surgery and five per cent receiving remedial treatment monthly because their injuries are chronic;

■ He provides you with a diagnosis. Have you ever visited a therapist and left being none the wiser to what your problem is or whether it will get better? John will explain your problem and how long it will take to recover;

■ He provides hands-on treatments – no machines or time-wasting. One of John's pet hates involves the therapist leaving the room for most of the session because they are treating three people at once. John is with you throughout your treatment to answer any questions and also to ensure your safety.

An additional 45-minute treatment combining sports massage and osteopathy costs only $45.

John's latest mission is to get Ware fit by running three BOXERCISE sessions a week, so if you want to get fitter than before call 07801023715. info@lancasterosteopaths.com

Singing about the benefits of Victoria Hall

BUDDING thespians trod the boards at Old Harlow's hidden gem of a theatre for a night of singing and drama which helped raise vital funds to safeguard the venue.

More than 100 proud parents packed into Victoria Hall, in Bury Road, to witness 30 pupils from performing arts school The Academy give a series of singing and dramatic presentations on Friday.

The evening raised more than £500 for the theatre, which has been fighting the threat of closure since Essex County Council deemed the building surplus to requirements in 2002.

Becky Oliver, a teacher at The Academy who is closely involved with Victoria Hall, said: "This wasn't a specific fundraising event, it was more about getting different community groups to use the venue because the more people who use it, the better chance of its survival.

"Hopefully, this will be the first of many evenings The Academy will hold at Victoria Hall.

"A lot of big regional venues are quite expensive to hire for groups and this is really affordable."

Speaking about the performers aged 5-19, she said: "They all did really well. They only had one rehearsal to put it together and they all did brilliantly."

Pictured, left, is the entire cast which provided the evening's entertainment.

An age-old romance for the present day

By CHRIS MOSS

THE bittersweet tale of star-crossed lovers Romeo & Juliet is perhaps the most famous romance ever told, as popular today as it was in the 17th century.

Shakespeare's timeless tragedy has been retold in countless ways over the decades, but even the visionary playwright himself would have struggled to envisage its transformation into the fun-filled, rock 'n' roll extravaganza soon coming to Harlow courtesy of a national children's theatre group.

Bringing the Bard's play up-to-date with an effervescent young cast, award-winning production company Shakespeare 4 Kidz promise to shake up Shakespeare and breathe new life into his 400-year-old play.

S4K ditches the period costume and strips back the flowery language to create something truly modern and unique.

Rebellious Romeo Montague and his friends decide to gatecrash the rival Capulet family's ball to stir up some trouble, but instead the teenage tearaway falls head-over-heels with the enemy's daughter Juliet.

When their forbidden love and clandestine marriage becomes public, the rival gangs turn to violence in the streets, two young men die and Romeo is exiled, leaving his new love pining for his return.

Desperate to be reunited, she enlists the help of kindly Friar Lawrence and together they hatch a fare-devil plan involving a dangerous potion.

In a breathless race against time and fate, can Romeo make it back to his bride's side before it is too late?

Director Julian Chenery told the Star he hopes S4K's adaptation will encourage youngsters to take the first step towards learning more about Britain's most famous literary son.

"We've broken down some of the language barriers and updated the setting, but the key aspects of the story are still intact," he said.

"The story remains so relevant to society today – it deals with knife crime, teenage love, politics and religion – and our adaptation makes this timeless tale accessible to everyone."

Romeo & Juliet arrives at The Playhouse on March 17. The two showings are at 1.30pm and 7.30pm and tickets are £14 (£9 for children) from (01279) 431945.

Paranoia and passions of a caped conspiracy

certificate 18, running time 2h42m

BLOODY and violent from the outset, Zack Snyder's stylish and largely über-faithful adaptation of Alan Moore and Dave Gibbons' celebrated graphic novel pulls no punches as it transports us back to a very different vision of the mid 1980s.

Relations between America and the Soviet Union are strained and there's a clear and present danger of nuclear attack.

Nixon is clinging onto power in the White House and costumed heroes are part of the fabric of a society in the thrall of fear and paranoia, reflected in the symbolic Doomsday Clock edging ever-closer to midnight.

In this politically charged climate, a deadly conspiracy involving the masked crime-fighters unfolds, which could have far-reaching implications for the future of mankind.

Years after the Watchmen – The Comedian (Jeffrey Dean Morgan), Dr Manhattan (Billy Crudup), Nite Owl (Patrick Wilson), Ozymandias (Matthew Goode), Rorschach (Jackie Earle Haley) and Silk Spectre (Malin Akerman) – were legislated into retirement, one of their number is killed in the film's bone-crunching opening sequence.

It's up to the surviving members – primarily the brutal, paranoid and uncompromising Rorschach to unravel the layers of mystery shrouding the crime and expose a conspiracy of Earth-shattering proportions.

Watchmen is clearly a labour of love for Snyder, the writer/director of 300, working from a screenplay by David Hayter and Alex Tse, and he adheres closely to the source text.

UNEARTHLY PASSION: Silk Spectre (Malin Akerman) and Dr Manhattan (Billy Crudup) get close in WATCHMEN (S)

THE YOUNG VICTORIA Of all the royal love stories, none tugs the heartstrings quite like that of Victoria and Prince Albert. Jean-Marc Vallée's film opens with Victoria (Emily Blunt, pictured right) stepping into the glare of the 1838 coronation and then rewinds a year to find her at the mercy of her mother, the Duchess of Kent (Miranda Richardson), and scheming advisor Sir John Conroy (Mark Strong).

GRAN TORINO In what is likely be his final appearance on camera, Clint Eastwood delivers a tour-de-force performance as Walt Kowalski, a xenophobic war veteran, in this powerful tale of modern day vigilantism. Gran Torino examines the clashes of ideals in predominantly white, blue-collar American neighbourhoods where the ethnic and cultural make-up has been altered by the influx of immigrants. After intervening in a fight, Walt takes a young Asian under his wing but finds himself in a world riven by gang violence and peer pressure.

THE INTERNATIONAL Interpol

Agent Louis Salinger (Clive Owen) uncovers evidence of serious infringements within one of the world's most powerful banks and resolves to bring its bosses to justice. However, they'll stop at nothing to protect their investments, even murder.

CONFESSIONS OF A SHOPAHOLIC A college grad lands a job as a financial journalist in New York City where she nurtures her shopping addiction and falls for a wealthy entrepreneur.

HOTEL FOR DOGS Family-oriented tale of two enterprising orphans whose enduring love for their four-legged friends sparks a magical adventure.

BOLT / BOLT 3D Breathtaking heroics and fun abound in this animated adventure about a canine actor raised on a TV set to think he's a real superhero until he finds himself out in the real world with only an alley cat and a mad hamster to help him find his way back home.

SLUMDOG MILLIONAIRE Modern day fairytale and massive Oscar success from Trainspotting director Danny Boyle, in which a young boy from the slums of Mumbai wins India's version of Who Wants To Be A Millionaire?

STAR WARS: THE CLONE WARS As the Clone Wars sweep the galaxy, the heroic Jedi struggle to maintain order in this animated spin-off.

IGOR A mad scientist's assistant wants to make so much more of his life.

KUNG FU PANDA A slothful panda has to get his mojo together to become a martial arts master.

Take it on The Chin

MY NAME IS BRUCE

(Anchor Bay Entertainment, 15, retail)

Few and far between are the performers who can claim the rabid fan love enjoyed by Bruce Campbell – for legions of exploitation hounds, the man known affectionately as The Chin can do no wrong.

They'll certainly adore My Name Is Bruce, an affectionate and knowing love letter right back at them – but others might be forgiven for thinking they've stumbled into a parallel dimension populated by unfamiliar icons.

Campbell will be most readily familiar to the mainstream as the put-upon, tormented Ash, bruised hero of Sam Raimi's landmark Evil Dead trilogy, as well as for (sometimes blink-and-you'll-miss-them) appearances in the Spider-man movies, Congo, Sky High and Xena: Warrior Princess, as well as starring in the TV show The Adventures Of Brisco County Jr.

But to fans he's the square-jawed star of such exploitation flicks as Maniac Cop, Moontrap, Mindwarp and his self-directed The Man With The Screaming Brain, not to mention his frankly Oscar-worthy turn in Bubba Ho-tep as an aged Elvis fighting off an Egyptian mummy in a Florida rest home.

For My Name Is Bruce, which he also directs, Campbell plays himself ... or, rather, a very skewed version of himself as a boozing, boorish hack toiling away in the drudgery of the fictitious D-movie Cave Alien 2 and despising his fans.

When teenage Campbell fan Jeff accidentally wakes a murderous Chinese spirit in the one-horse town of Gold Lick, he knows his hero is the only one capable of duking it out with the demon – if only the guy wasn't such a self-regarding coward.

The film is one long running gag stuffed to the gills with references to Campbell's career both explicit and sly, and the actor is generous to a fault when it comes to lampooning himself and the kind of films with which he's associated, although writer Mark Verheiden could have made his script sharper and more inventive.

Extras on this two-disc release include a great commentary, the making-of feature Heart Of Darkness, a Cave Alien 2 trailer and a bunch of other random stuff fans will eat up.

THE GHOUL: SPECIAL EDITION

(Network, PG, retail)

Long thought lost until a poor quality subtitled print surfaced in Prague in 1969, Boris Karloff's minor but entertaining 1933 melodrama The Ghoul fortunately surfaced again in an uncut print and it's this which has been digitally restored.

Largely famous as the first British film to get an 'H' certificate for horror, it's a fun but very creaky and rather tame affair in the manner of The Old Dark House-style pictures popular at the time (such as Bela Lugosi's Mark Of The Vampire) in which supernatural shenanigans turns out to have an unlikely and more mundane explanation in the final reel.

Karloff (who came home to England to make it) is the beetle-browed Egyptologist Professor Morlant, a vengeful returnee from the grave after a thief makes off with a jewel he was counting on to buy him a place in the afterlife.

He doesn't get to do much more than lurch around the place scaring folks but The Ghoul nevertheless has some nicely atmospheric moments and one quite surprisingly grim scene in which Morlant carves an arcane symbol into his chest.

The film is well complemented by an authoritative commentary track by genre experts Kim Newman and Stephen Jones.

COULD it be that punk did happen after all and that brief flurry of fists and four-letter words wasn't just some fantastical, feverish dream? Well, Ten O Sevens may not be old enough to be bona fide members of the blank generation but cut them and they bleed pure year zero bile – a refreshing alternative to the preening pretenders littering the scene with sixth-form poetry and cotton wool-culture self-pity.

Without so much as a whiff of formulaic punk-pap about them, these lads are the type the Daily Mail warned you about – ramshackle rogues with real attitude and an unnerving ability to churn out some pretty nifty three-chord aural assaults.

Their gloriously shambolic demos may sound like they were produced in a toilet and their tailor obviously used to work for The Clash, but punk wouldn't be half as fun without the clichés. And the splenetic 'Sevens clearly know how to have a riot. Emerging triumphant from the first heat of The Square's marathon Rock Contest, the lads get a second bite at the cherry in the next round on April 16. Do yourself a favour and make it a date.

priced!

Dagenham Motors are MASSIVELY overstocked. As a result, the managers have reduced the price of all their cars in stock.

Normally these cars would go to auction where other small car dealers would pick these cars up then sell them on to you with a large mark-up.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

HFT seeks more talent

HFT, a charity whose patrons include HRH the Princess Royal, aims to make life full and interesting for people with learning disabilities. As Sandra Forsyth, Service Manager, explains, "We find creative ways to support people so that they can live life on their own terms." For example, one of the people HFT supports came up with the idea of HFT's Got Talent - an annual talent show. "It's an enjoyable way to develop their interests and the event is great fun for the whole community" says Sandra.

HFT's approach is based on person centred planning. Sandra explains, "We spend time getting to know people before tailoring our services to their individual needs and wishes. That support gives people control over their daily lives - it includes everything from cooking and paying a bill to developing a range of hobbies and skills training for starting work."

To that end, the charity has its own garden centre from where it provides a range of training and it also works in partnership with local businesses to provide employment opportunities. "Employers find that people with learning disabilities are able to transfer the skills they have learned with us to their new jobs," Sandra says.

As a pioneer in social care, HFT is always searching for new ways to develop its services. Right now it has its very own search for talent on. "We're recruiting at a range of levels," Sandra says. "We've a number of senior-level roles available that would offer experienced people a great opportunity to develop their skills and ideas. But we're also looking for people who just want to get involved in supporting people for a few hours a week." If you've got the X Factor that HFT is looking for, you can find out more about joining the team at www.ideasyoucanlivewith.co.uk

Ideas you can live with

Assistant Services Manager - Part-Time, Ugley
Community Resource Development Manager - Ugley
Supported Living Team Managers - Part-Time, Thorley & Stansted
Senior Support Workers - Ugley
Senior Supported Living Worker - Spellbrook

HFT is a pioneer in many areas of social care, but we never settle. When you join us, you'll help us find new ways to develop our services, using your creativity to come up with fresh ideas that are as individual as the people we support. Join us in doing whatever it takes to support people with learning disabilities to live life on their own terms and we'll take your career in exciting and unexpected directions. To find out more, please call us on 01279 816165 or visit www.ideasyoucanlivewith.co.uk where you can apply for these and Support Worker opportunities.

ON THE UP: Harlow-based footballer Danny Green hopes to return to the professional ranks

A winger and a prayer for league return

FORMER Nottingham Forest and Northampton Town winger Danny Green has set a two-year target to make his way back into the Football League.

The 20-year-old ex-St Mark's School student from Harlow joined Blue Square South side Bishop's Stortford in the summer after an injury-plagued two years. Green, from Rundells, signed for Stortford after meeting then boss Martin Hayes at a Uefa B badge coaching camp.

Green mainly played for the reserve side at the City Ground, but was a first team squad player at Northampton.

However, a succession of knee injuries ended his spell in the professional ranks as former European Cup winners Forest released him when his contract was up last year.

Green, who now works as a full-time coach for Premiership giant Chelsea's Football in the Community scheme, realises that he needs to produce some top performances for Stortford to put himself back in the spotlight.

"I want to get back to League One or Two by the time I am 22

By DAVID RIMMER
rimmerd@hertsessexnews.co.uk or 23," he told Star Sport. "You want to play at the highest level you can. I want people to be noticing me and to be scoring goals. I want to be in the papers!"

Although he is a good creator, he is conscious he needs to improve his goalscoring ratio.

"I do set up goals but I need to improve on the number I score. If I can get one goal in every three games that would be perfect," he said.

Having been on the sidelines until November, Green is getting stronger and stronger and has now played in 17 of the last 18 matches for Stortford.

"It does play on your mind and you wonder if you are going to get better. I have done a lot of work by myself on the knee and will do so in the close season," he said.

"I feel quite sharp. At the start I was coming off with 15 minutes to go but I have been getting through games."

Green is aware that there is only so much time a player can be in the shop window and that is why the next two months will be crucial in getting him back to where he wants to be.

Skate success

FORGET Dancing on Ice, a Harlow youngster has shown she has all the right moves after winning a gold medal at the British Synchronised Skating Championships.

Burnt Mill School student Charli Dodd (15) was part of the squad from the Lee Valley London Ice Skating Club which won two categories and clinched a runner-up prize at the British Synchronised Ice Skating Championships in Sheffield.

She was part of the 17-person Team Isis that took the gold medal in the British intermediate category (for 12- to 19-year-olds) with a stunning routine which won praise from the judging panel.

Charli has been skating for nine years.

To win their medal the team produced a synchronised skating routine, which involves skaters moving as one flowing unit, often at high speeds.

The club's other sides, Team Phoenix and Team Passion, took first and second respectively in the preliminary and masters categories.

The Lee Valley club is based at the Lee Valley Ice Centre in Leyton, East London.

Lee Valley Ice Centre manager Alan Seabrook said: "It's another fantastic achievement for the club. Thirty-three clubs participated in this competition from all over Britain. Two firsts and a second show that we here in the Lee Valley have got the right set-up to produce top class skaters."

Still in second

ANNOR Harlow Squash Club remain second after a convincing victory at Haileybury.

Annor Harlow came away with a resounding 4-1 win to consolidate their top two spot in division five of the Herts Squash League.

First string Ian Gould kept up his 100 per cent record with another win in an uncompleted match.

Having lost the first set 9-15 Ian then won the next two 15-7, 16-14 and while leading 9-5 in the fourth set his opponent suffered an injury and had to retire. Second string John Tennant was the only loser on the night, going down 6-15, 10-15, 9-15 to his much stronger opponent. Third string Dan Collison won his first set 15-10 but then made several unforced errors in the second to lose it 11-15.

He recovered his composure to close out the match 15-13, 15-11 for a 3-1 win.

Fourth seed Peter Iszatt started off well, winning the first two sets 15-11, 15-7. He then let his concentration slip and lost the third set 9-15 before coming back to win the fourth set 16-14 for another 3-1 victory.

Fifth string Richard Lewis lost his first set 13-15 but recovered well to win the next three 15-12, 15-12, 15-9 for a 3-1 triumph.

Athlete awards

HARLOW athletes have picked up awards from their club.

Daniel Yaxley won a Jack Petchey award for service to Woodford Green Athletic Club in 2007-08. This followed a string of fine performances.

Burnt Mill School student Sophie Fuhr also came in for praise.

The under-15 youngster clocked an excellent 62.02s in the 400m and this ranked her top of the Eastern Region in 2008.

North Weald's Jessica Docking won a Jack Petchey award for her service to the club in 2007-08 and a string of fine performances.

The awards were presented by Great Britain athlete Jeanette Kwakye. The Woodford club member reached the final of the Olympic Games 100m in Beijing, China, last year.

Bobby can dazzle in super grade race

Welcome to Inside Track, our column that gives you the reader an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our top tipster reveals his favourites for tomorrow.

SANDYHILL BOBBY might be facing one of the hottest ever graded races to be staged at Harlow, but Dave Lee's dog looks a worthy favourite in the 10pm contest.

The draw in trap 6 could not have worked out better for this very wide running hound and he is expected to lead from trap-rise. DAINTY EXPRESS is running out of his skin at present and looks booked for second place.

Whatever the fate of BUMBLE LEE in the 9.30pm event, connections are sure to pick up plenty of prizes in the future with this very promising newcomer.

His qualifying trials were sensational for one so young and the sky is the limit for this Mark Wallis trained greyhound.

Should he fail to win on his debut, Wallis can gain compensation with GOLDIES TARA in the very next race.

TG Whites slipped back to third in spite of beating Golden Swift 6-3.

CC Foxes shocked Young Pretenders with a 6-3 away win.

Stow Snooker also had a good away win, beating UG Social 8-1.

British champ's 42st lift

His first lift was a successful 255kgs.

The second was at 260kgs and the final lift was at 267.5kgs (42 stone).

Wajcentel, who trains at and is sponsored by Ripped Gym in Harlow, said: "I'm over the moon to have achieved such a lift and look forward to my next competition, where I aim to beat my own record."

Hawks beaten by bogey side

THE Hawks will be glad to see the back of Hendon after conceding 10 goals in two matches against the North West London club this season.

Harlow Town slipped to a 5-3 home defeat against the Greens in December and the 10-man Hawks side were on the wrong end of a 5-0 thrashing at Vale Farm on Saturday.

The visitors were already trailing 4-0 when they had central defender Danny Wolf sent off for a second bookable offence on 57 minutes.

With midfielder Sam Berry

Hendon 5, Harlow Tn 0 (Ryman League, prem div)

(holiday) and utility player Shaun Gliddon (work commitments) both unavailable, Chris Ellerbeck started in midfield alongside Ryan Hall.

Hendon went ahead on six minutes. Lee O'Leary fed Brian Haule on the edge of the box and he swivelled before finishing exquisitely.

The hosts doubled their advantage on 25 minutes when Wolf needlessly fouled Haule in the box.

Striker Peter Dean, on loan from Harlow's close rivals Bishop's Stortford, saw his spotkick blocked by Hawks' keeper James Hasell but the forward reacted well to tuck in the rebound.

Hendon increased their lead to 3-0 on 28 minutes. Harlow centre-half Laurie Stewart made two attempts to clear a right-wing cross before O'Leary fired an unstoppable shot into the top corner.

On 40 minutes, Jamie Busby's cross from the right set up Haule who calmly slotted in his second goal for a 4-0 lead.

Hawks boss Glen Alzapiedi made a double change at the interval, introducing Dee Okojie and Tom Bruno into the midfield for Danny Green and Leon Lalite, making his last Harlow appearance.

There was no relief for Harlow as Wolf was booked for a 51st minute foul on Haule and then dismissed six minutes later following a two-footed tackle on James Parker.

Reserve team manager Kevin Warren came off the bench to fill the void in defence, with Ellerbeck sacrificed from the midfield.

The Greens wrapped up the scoring on 85 minutes. Sub Glenn Garner's ball into the box took an unlucky deflection off Stewart and landed well for Dean, who fired his second goal past Hasell.

HARLOW TN: Hasell, Taylor, Bardle, Wolf (sent off, 57), Stewart, Hall, Lalite (Okojie 45), Frendo, Crace, Ellerbeck (Warren 58), Green (Bruno 45). Subs not used: Webster, Stone (gk).

England star can spur club side to glory

NETBALL star Joanne Harten is hoping her England experience will help her spark her Loughborough University side to British Super League glory.

The 19-year-old from Mallards Rise in Harlow received the player-of-the-match award in the first of an three-match international series against Jamaica. England won the home series 3-0.

Harten, who is studying international relations at Loughborough University, is also in the Loughborough Lightning team that is aiming to qualify for the Super League play-offs.

The top four teams qualify for next month's final. "We are aiming to go one better than last year, get to the final and then win it," she said.

Club success would put Harten in good spirits for her trip to th Caribbean with the England U-21 team to play the Jamaica U-21 team.

This will be part of the England U-21's team warm-up for the World Youth Championships to be held in the Cook Islands in the Pacific in August.

Harten's international standing as a goal shooter was boosted by the series against Jamaica.

Aside from her player-of-the-match award, the first match at the O2 arena in London saw her play her first ever full 60 minutes. Her shooting accuracy was 85 per cent.

"It was an awesome feeling to get the award. There was an 8,000 crowd there and I was so pleased. It was the first time that the O2 arena has had a netball match," she said.

"I was shocked to play the whole 60 minutes."

After this match she dashed off to be a bridesmaid at her brother Michael's wedding in Harlow.

She also played the second half of the second match at the Coventry Sky Dome which England won 57-47.

Her mother Christine said: "It was an emotional weekend. We are so proud of what Joanne has done."

Harlow battle to deserved home draw

Harlow 1, Havering 1 (Essex Women's Hockey League, premier div)

A FIGHTING display from Harlow gave them a well-earned home draw against league leaders Havering on Saturday.

The visitors exerted strong pressure down the right flank at the start, which was well resisted by Anita Shearman and Sue Douglas.

Sonya Amos fired wide after a slick hosts' move and the game had a scrappy feel to it as a result of some persistent tackling from Havering.

Harlow went ahead on 15 minutes.

A three-player move ended with Carolyn Rushton crossing from the right for Byers to score at the far post.

The hosts then kept out some Havering short corners to maintain their 1-0 lead to the break.

A string of blocks from Lizeel Hansson and saves from keeper Nicky Newland kept Harlow ahead until the league's top scorer Emily Defroand converted a 65th minute penalty flick.

This was awarded after Newland committed a foul.

The visitors exerted more pressure with Jo Green making a goal-line clearance and a rare Harlow attack saw Rushton force a good save from the Havering keeper.

HARLOW squad: Newland, Green, Hansson, Shearman, Figg, Tweddle, Carolyn Rushton, Reilly, Ferdinando, Byers, Amos, Steenekamp, Trimble, Douglas.

Other result: East Men's Hockey league div 3SE – Harlow 3, East London 4.

Poor first half costs Rams

A TERRIBLE first half put paid to any hopes Harlow had of a home victory over Braintree.

The visitors exploited poor home defence as they scored 31 points without reply in the first half.

Braintree went ahead through a first-minute penalty and two minutes later one of their locks scored a converted try.

There was no let-up for the hosts as a Braintree forward powered over for an eighth-minute try that was converted.

The visitors then ran in two more converted tries through their backs.

Harlow's James McFerran, who had recovered from a knee injury to play, narrowly missed a penalty early in the second half before the Rams' sole score came on 49 minutes. Winger

Harlow 7, Braintree 36 (RFU London div three north east)

Will Grimley scored a superb try, taking the ball wide and stepping round two defenders before outpacing a third to touch down in the corner. McFerran converted from a difficult angle.

Six minutes later Braintree added another unconverted try to go 36-7 ahead.

Harlow exerted more pressure without reward in the last 25 minutes.

Braintree's win put them third, while the Rams are second from bottom.

HARLOW: McFerran, Vanbeck, Bowering, Powell (C, Webb 55), Grimley, Harron, Woodington, T. Webb (Branch 60), Wilkins, Prindiville, Palmer, Twiner, Bowering (Cootes 55), Hawkins, Eynon (C).

Axe falls on Hawks pair

Heybridge Swifts 0, Harlow Town 2

(Ryman League, premier division)

GLEN Alzapiedi wielded the axe after releasing midfielder Leon Lalite and right wing Danny Green.

His decision came after Saturday's 5-0 debacle at Hendon on Saturday. Lalite is now at Thurrock.

The Hawks boss said: "I felt they were not playing to the levels I expected. It was not just based on what happened on Saturday but on what I have seen since I came to the club."

Alzapiedi has re-signed midfielder Clark Akers from Cheshunt but he has been ruled out for two weeks with an ankle injury.

Harlow's manager also signed Gazmend Dauti from Waltham Forest and he impressed on his debut in Harlow's victory at Heybridge Swifts in a vital six-pointer on Tuesday.

DANNY GREEN

Alzapiedi said: "I had seen him two or three times and with the situation we are in we need competitive players."

"He only knew one or two of our players and he did well. He had a physical presence."

Harlow had the wind advantage in the first half at Swifts and went ahead on 14 minutes.

A corner kick from Harlow skipper Mark Taylor came back out to him on the left. He cut into the box and drilled a low shot inside the near post.

On 19 minutes, Chris Ellerbeck turned his ankle and was replaced by Dee Okojie.

Harlow doubled their advantage on 65 minutes.

John Frendo had a shot blocked by home keeper Ollie Morris-Sanders before Ricci Crace fired home from the edge of the box.

Alzapiedi added: "We reacted well after Saturday and they visibly wilted after our second goal went in."

Harlow Tn: Hasell, Taylor (Webster 89), Bardle, Wolf, Stewart, Dauti, Hall, Frendo, Crace, Ellerbeck (Okojie 40), Bruno. Subs not used: Warren, Stone (GK). Attendance 106.

Hawks to appeal 3-points deduction

HAWKS chairman Simon Morgan, right, has said that the club will appeal against a Ryman League decision to dock three points.

Harlow Town FC were deducted three points after a League meeting last Thursday, for fielding an ineligible player in the 2-1 premier division victory over Wealdstone 19 days ago.

Striker Ricci Crace played despite the club not receiving clearance from the League that he was eligible to play.

If the points deduction stands it will a big blow in the Hawks' battle to avoid the drop.

"We are awaiting the League's decision to formally arrive and we will then start the process of an appeal with the Football Association," said Morgan. "The process of registering the player in question was carried out in the correct way by our club, and I am confident that we have a strong case to appeal."

He added: "While we await news of our appeal with the FA, everybody is committed to keeping our club in the Ryman premier division, something I have no doubt we will achieve."

Forms had indicated he had been released from his last club, Ryman division one north side Enfield Town. But Enfield failed to notify the Isthmian League until two days AFTER the fixture, which the Hawks won 2-1.

This made him ineligible to play.

Enfield Town secretary Peter Coath said: "We still held his registration and due to logistical problems we couldn't send that off until the following Monday."

"However, nobody from Harlow actually contacted our registration secretary to say they wanted to play him against Wealdstone."

"If they had, we'd have done all we could to speed up the process."

Harlow are currently 16th with 34 points from 29 games.

However, if the points deduction is upheld Harlow will be just four points off the bottom spot. Four teams go down in this division.
